MEMOIRS OF THE TULSA AMBULANCERS

bracket and how liked kids of the company. Beach was with a detail of first aid men whose station was in a road dugout on the summit of a hill behind Montigny. They were in charge of Captain J. L. Nabhan. On the evening of the 18th of June the bombardment of adjacent position had been almost continuous, and many of the shells had landed with high explosives. Beach was falling all about the dugout. Beach was ordered by Captain Nabhan to lower the gas curtain at an exposed end of the dugout. He had just carried out this order, and was standing in the stairway with the upper quarter of his body above the level of the ground outside, when a 37 shell struck just outside the door, and exploded.

A large chunk of the shell casing struck Beach on the right forehead, almost tearing it off. Another piece, smaller, penetrated a lung. A third fragment struck him in the head, smashing a hole in his skull, but not penetrating the brain. Beach staggered down into the dugout and half way down its length, into the arms of the captain, who bound up his wounds quickly and called for volunteers to drive with the injured man to a hospital. The bombardment was still going on briskly outside, but Herbert Baber of Tulsa and Berford Pyle of Muskogee, volunteered at once.

COMMUNITY CANNERY IN SCHOOL BUILDING

Mothers of School Girls as Well as Their Daughters to Be Given Canning Lessons.

Next week the public schools will begin the summer session given of assistance with their children in personal girls and women interested in domestic science to receive instruction by application in the school buildings when vegetables are in season.

This year it is anticipated that not only the girls but their mothers and all women of the city are without a home canning machine, and it is the purpose of the community cannery to give them the opportunity to learn the art of canning.

As a result, Mrs. Josephine of the domestic science department, in the school building, will have through her further advantages in teaching and these will be demonstrated to the girls and women in the school building.

The schedule for classes over the year will be as follows: Monday afternoon, 2 o'clock.

The Question—

HOW DO THEY DO IT—
How does Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Jones afford such wonderful furniture in their homes? Their incomes are small, yet every room seems perfectly fitted.

HOW DO THEY DO IT?
For years we have been answering this perplexing question for troubled homekeepers. Our credit plan is the only answer. And yet, nothing is added to the cost, because our volume of sales under this system is so large. Don't envy the homes of others—Answer the question the same way they are doing!
